REFERENCES

POSTPONEMENT OF CHILDBEARING AND LOW FERTILITY IN EUROPE

Billari, F. C. and G. A. Micheli. 1999. “Social norms and demographic events in contemporary Western societies: Can we learn from the Italian case?” Paper presented at the Workshop on Social interaction and demographic behaviour, Max Planck Institute for Demographic research, Rostock.

REFERENCES

REFERENCES

REFERENCES

REFERENCES

REFERENCES

REFERENCES

SF. 2001. Data on age and parity distribution of women provided by Statistics Finland.

REFERENCES

Changing fertility conditions in Europe, postponement of childbearing, and lengthening periods of lowest-low fertility (Kohler et al., 2002) have motivated scholars to understand the processes involved. Research on intentions analysed represent the variety of situations in Europe, as two countries represent, the post-communist regimes and the other two the welfare states of western Europe with a higher living standard.